Speaker 1

This is a recording with Brian Franks on the 23rd of November 2023. Brian, can you tell me what it is that I'm uploading today?

Speaker 2

As far as I'm aware, you'll load in my memories of. The World War two and my family's dealings and being with them at that time.

Speaker 1

OK. Thank you.

Speaker 1

Brian, why do you think it's important to share your stories and objects with us today?

Speaker 2

Well, there are plenty of official record in, for instance, in the War Museum in London, but individuals experience is something that possibly a lot more people will be interested in.

Speaker 1

Yeah, that's great. What 3 words come to mind when you think about the wartime generation?

Speaker 2

Now growing old.

Speaker 1

And the Second World War is often used in public discussions in different ways. What do you think about this?

Speaker 2

I've never thought about it before, but. It was, of course, a very. Very very element thing in our history and. Unfortunately. Although that was meant to be the the second war after the war to end all wars. Unfortunately, still was gone all over the world and. I don't know what we can learn from the first, Second World War. We thought that was going to be the end of all these conflicts, but. That wasn't taken account of human nature.

Speaker 1

OK. Thank you.
